TOTEM 1970

Winamac Community
High School
Winamac, Indiana

Mike Philbaum

1970—A Progress Year

Businesses have begun to build and expand in and around our community. Our school is also expanding. A new wing of classrooms was added to the present building. In addition, the football field has been improved. Things inside the school were also expanding.

With faculty assistance and greater quality added to the academic program, we began to build stronger minds and to expand our thoughts to a wider field of knowledge. Competition with other schools in football, basketball, and track provided learning experiences in team effort and good sportsmanship. The entire school body worked together to project better school spirit and to uphold our school standing in our vicinity.

With these facts in mind, we can say that 1970 was A PROGRESS YEAR.

Jean Paul Adds French Frolic and Fun

Jean-Paul and Janice enjoy dancing at the Valentine dance.

Jean-Paul Sauzede from Marseille, France, attended WCHS here with us this year. He stayed in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Drompp as a participant in the International Christian Youth Exchange program. Jean-Paul studied U.S. history, government and economics, senior English, psychology and sociology. He takes part in F.T.A., Student Council, Press Club, Drama Club, and Latin Club. His favorites are: snow skiing, corn on the cob, talking, and playing his guitar. He is the son of Jacques and Jacqueline Sauzede and he has two sisters. When he returns he will attend Strasbourg College in France.

J.P. stops to chat with Sharon before going to class.

Jean-Paul seems to be interested in something besides the football game.

J.P. displays his "birthday hat" to the WCHS student body at an assembly.

Everyone enjoyed listening to Jean-Paul sing at the Christmas program.

Jean-Paul wears his hat with pride.

Janice and John, and Marilyn and Duane take a few minutes to rest between dances.

The Oblong Box provided the music for the F.H.A. Valentine Dance.

Each year the sophomores are given a pizza party for selling magazines. These boys seem to be enjoying this year's party.

Mike and Janice enjoy an evening of dancing at the Valentine Dance.

The Byfields are given a surprise party amid smiles and tears after their final concert.

It appears that the Green Goof really struck at the Student Council's informal dance.

The Drama Club Presents "Up the Down Staircase"

Shown above are the members of the cast of "Up the Down Staircase" along with the stage crew, lighting crew, make-up crew, prompters, and sound crew.

Anita reads some of her creative writing to the class.

Linda has a suggestion for Miss Barrett.

Ed was kind enough to give his valuable time and talent to help the lighting crew.

Mike wants to know what makes Gale think she's so special.

Mike's in trouble now!

Gale tries to help Debbie, a love-sick student.

Assembly Programs Offer Learning and Enjoyment for All

Everyone enjoyed the assembly put on by these two actors. They displayed different time sequences of the theater in three short plays. The two shown here are the ancient Greek drama and the Shakespearean drama.

Mag Zanger and Pam Olds display the giant hall pass that the Senior Class willed to Mr. Bonnell.

Jean-Paul proudly wears the giant cowboy hat which was given to him on his birthday.

Mary and Courtney read a short play at the Thanksgiving Day program. This program was given by the National Honor Society.

Mr. Kasamis and Mr. Bonnell smile upon receiving their frog and duck, respectively, when the senior wills were read.

Shelley Thompson hands the box of hall passes willed to the Class of '71 by the Class of '70 to President Tom O'Connor.

JoEllen and Barb catch the tights which were willed to them by the 1969-70 Varsity Cheerleaders.

Many Receive Honors on Awards Day —

Mr. Irven awards these seniors with state scholarships and letters of high academic achievement from colleges.

Mr. Jones presents the cross country team with their awards.

Mr. Heath presents the Golf team members with their awards. Duane Galbreath was voted the Most Valuable Golfer.

Carl Ent receives the track award for Most Valuable Team Member from Mr. Jones as the other members look on.

Mr. Haniford presents Dave Wise with his football award.

These senior Drama Club members receive their awards from Mrs. Thompson for their hard work and participation.

These members of the baseball team receive their awards for playing in the required number of games from their coach, Mr. Hendryx.

Mrs. Hughes presents the Intramural Council with their Certificates of Merit.

Memories Which They'll Always Remember

Randy Barr presents Mr. Harris a gift from the Senior Class for his time and effort he has given us in his years of teaching.

Mr. Byfield is presented a plaque, from the senior band members, by Ruth Thompson.

Judy Cloud and Pam Fisher were presented certificates for their time and service in the library.

Mr. Kasamis presents Duane Galbreath and Shelley Thompson with the Activities Awards.

JoEllen Loehmer and Randy Barr were elected to receive the Citizenship Awards. These were presented by Mr. Kasamis.

Mr. Kroft awards Dan Vana-man with the gavel from F.F.A.

Mrs. Nale presents Eileen Kasten with the DAR Award, while Janice Gudeman receives a plaque from the South Bend Tribune for the best reporter in Press Club.

John Russell receives a trophy for attending school for twelve years without missing a single day.

Mrs. Moyer awards Wendy Raymer with the Betty Crocker Homemaker of the Year Award.

Malita Knebel receives an award from Mrs. Sayers for the Most Valuable Member of G.A.A.

Juniors Honor Seniors with Prom—"The Old South"

After being crowned, the 1970 Prom Royalty led a dance.

The Royalty for "The Old South" was: Princess Jo Ellen Loehmer, Queen Janice Lawson, King Duane Galbreath, and Prince Tom O'Connor.

The gym was filled with music which everyone enjoyed.

The 1969-70 Junior-Senior Prom, "The Old South," was presented for the seniors by the junior class on May 9, 1970. The juniors spent many hours transforming the gym into a magical ballroom.

As prom time approaches the girls discuss dates, formals, and after-prom plans. The boys talk about tuxes, cars, dates, and corsages.

Everyone enjoyed dancing from 9:00 to midnight. The coronation of the royalty was the climax of the evening.

"Nothing now is left but the Majestic Memory—" Longfellow.

Mr. and Mrs. Hendryx greet Connie Peters and Jerry Locke in the receiving line.

John Weaver and Mr. Kasamis seem to be enjoying a private joke in the receiving line.

Janice and Jean-Paul are caught by the camera in the garden.

These couples seem entranced by the music at the prom.

Jay Spry and Gale Boos seem to be enjoying themselves as the prom music lingers on.

These two couples sit and relax as the music plays and other couples continue dancing.

These ambitious juniors put finishing touches on the trellis.

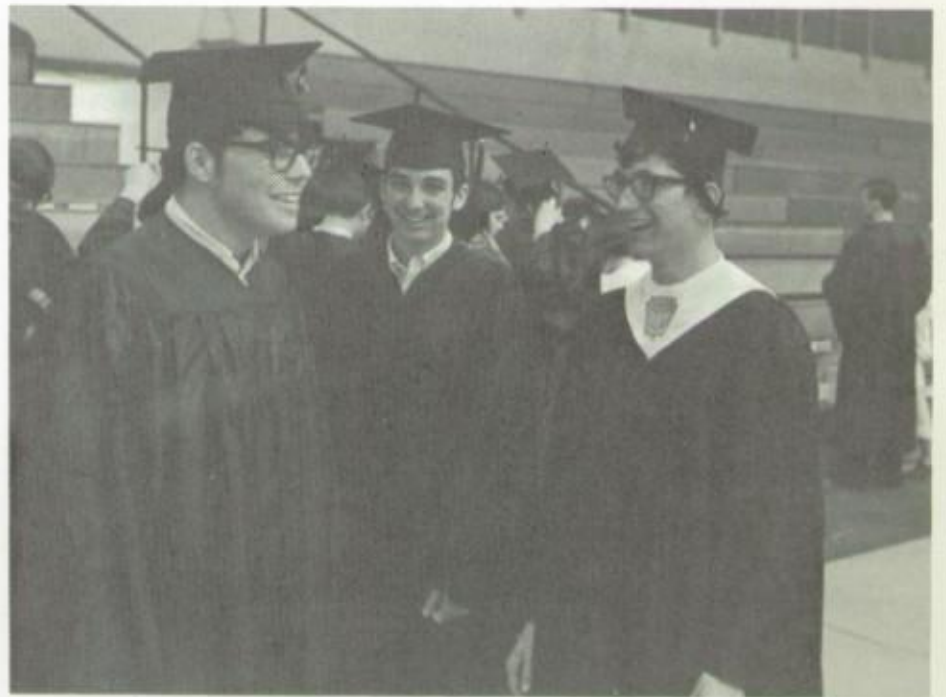

Clyde and Kenny tie the ends of the parachute for the ceiling of the prom.

Winamac Community High School Class of 1970.

Shelley Thompson, all smiles as she receives her cap and gown, and Mary Fahler wait for their class picture to be taken.

Gary Burton, Scott Fritz, and Courtney Poor talk over good times at practice.

Mary Mohr and Sharon Cords smile as they receive their long-awaited diplomas.

On May 24, 1970, 104 Seniors graduated from Winamac Community High School. This graduating class was addressed by Dr. Dean Berkley of Indiana University. Dr. Berkley chose as his subject, "The Class of 1970 . . . Where Are You Going?" The high school band played several selections at Commencement while the chorus sang at Baccalaureate. Eileen Kasten and Steve Hollenberg were the winners of the Carper scholarships. Shelley Thompson, Sharon Cords, Daniel Dickensheets and Mark Reutebuch were the winners of the Brown scholarships. The winner of the Bonnell scholarship was Mike DeLorenzo; the Teachers' Association scholarship award was given to Carl Ent; the Jaycee's scholarship winner was Pam Fisher; the Rotary Club winner was Jeannine Roberts.

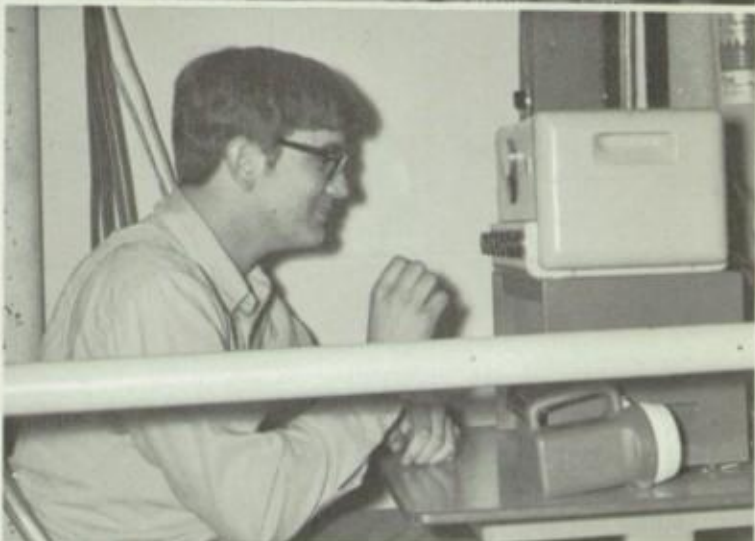

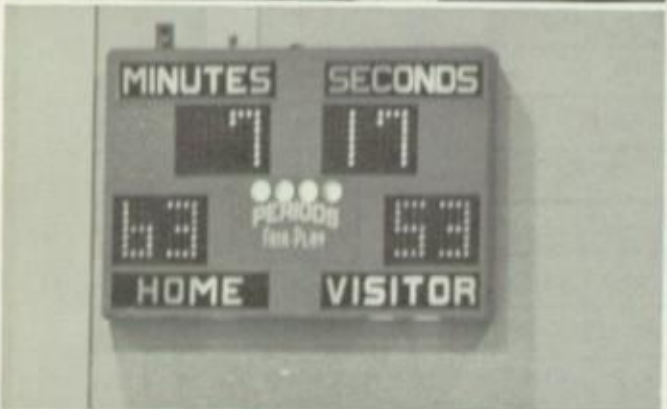

Ruth Thompson happily walks down the aisle after Baccalaureate Service.

These graduating Seniors have mixed emotions as they leave after Commencement.

Crosses

Latin: Language of the Past, Present and Future

Latin students always enjoy their classes and anxiously await the next informative session.

Throughout the year Mrs. Nale leads her Latin students in an interesting and diversified study of the language of Rome.

Latin, one of the two foreign languages offered at WCHS, is offered to students as an elective. It may be taken for as many as three years.

In the classes much attention is paid to vocabulary, grammar patterns and declensions, and sentence structure, as well as to mythology and Roman history.

Spanish Students Study "Espanol"

The Spanish lab, equipped with individual sound units, aids both the students and teachers in their daily work.

Mr. Alt teaches high school Spanish classes. Que pasa, Señor Alt?

Miss DeWeese has charge of the junior high classes. Here students have taken over the class and are giving today's lesson.

Amateur Scientists Study At WCHS

Amy, Duane, and Ed combine talents to conquer the chemical world.

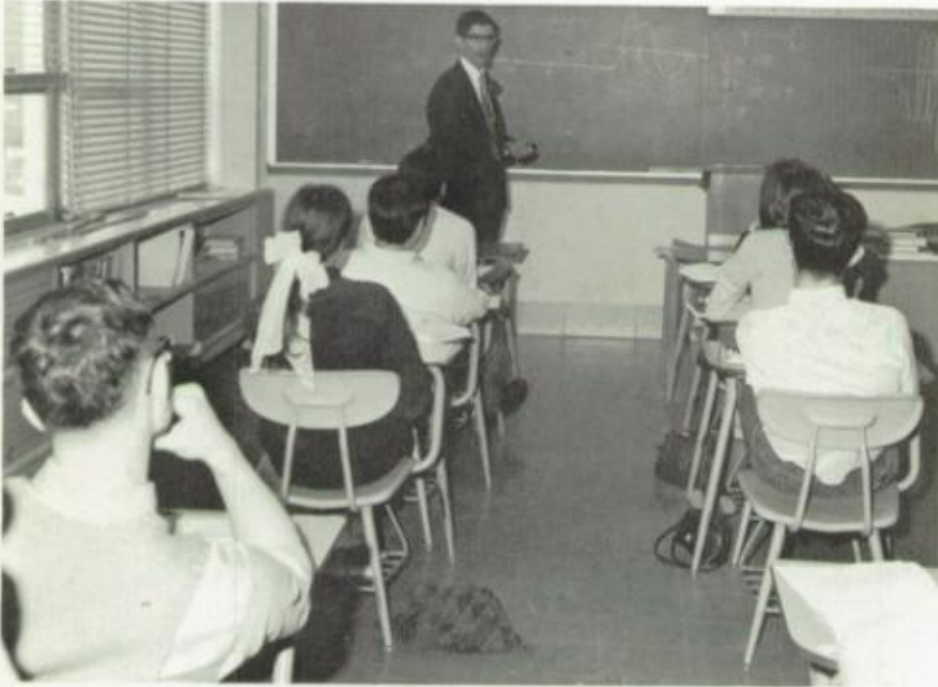

Mr. Halleck leads these eager freshmen in their study of biology.

These junior physicists attempt to understand the complex physical world.

The science department consists of general science, biology, physics, and chemistry. In biology, taught by Mr. Halleck, the freshmen study plant and animal life, while the general science classes begin learning the science field. This beginning science course is taught by Mr. Ezra and Mr. Nale. The juniors study energy and its changes in Mr. Harris' physics class. The seniors study chemistry, also taught by Mr. Harris, which deals with the composition, structure, and properties of substance and of the transformations that they undergo.

Mathematics: Language of Science

Mr. Wentz is an expert when it comes to graphing trigonometric functions.

Students on an academic course enrich their math skills with freshman algebra, sophomore geometry, junior advanced algebra, and senior advanced math. Each course concentrates on developing talents in its specified area.

What's so surprising about math?

Mrs. Bishop explains the fundamentals of algebra as Margaret Loehmer illustrates the lesson on the board.

Punctuate, Enunciate, and Illustrate

Mrs. Stoudt listens as a student tells the answer in Remedial Reading.

The English department not only teaches grammar, but also literature. The students learn about our cultural heritage through stories, articles, and poetry. The students learn the art of communication through the study of grammar. This enables them to make their own way in their chosen work.

Records are being played in Mrs. Rouch's room as students follow along in reading Julius Caesar.

Mrs. Berg arouses the curiosity of the class.

Mrs. Thompson takes a break after teaching one of her four sections of English.

Social Studies: A Study of the World-

Mr. Adams' eighth grade Indiana History class looks on as a student points out spots of interest on the map of the United States.

Mr. Hendryx instructs his senior class in the problems of government.

Kevin Bennett looks on as John Paul explains his point in sociology class.

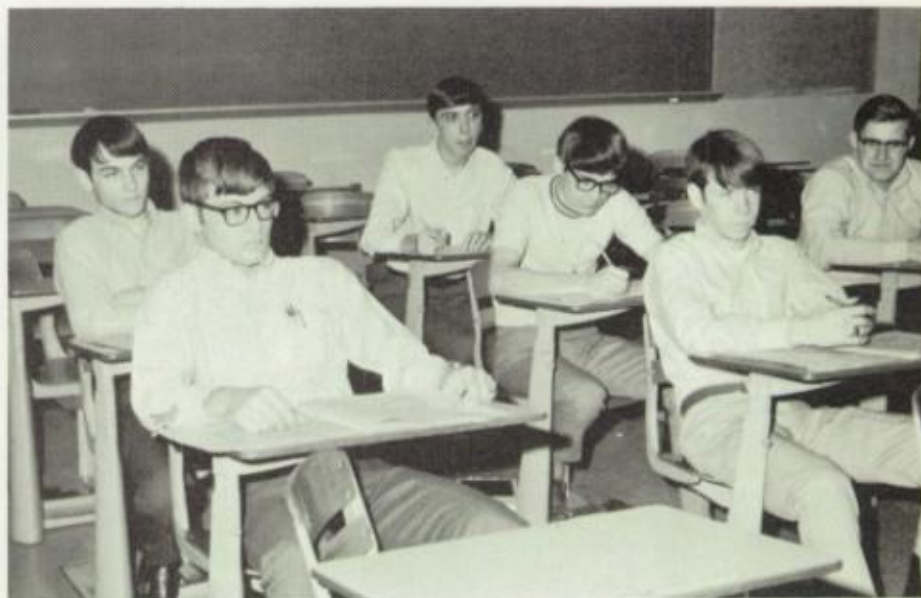

The social studies department at WCHS looks into man's mind, history, society, and environment as he discovers new insights in the history of his world and country, its system of government, its current problems, and in himself and his environment.

This year the department initiated the program for students of junior and senior classes who wished to study independently. Each pupil selected a topic of major interest to himself and studied it extensively for 12 weeks ending in some form of presentation—the research paper, the oral report, or the video tape recording.

Past, Present, and Future

Mr. Adams checks over his junior students' work.

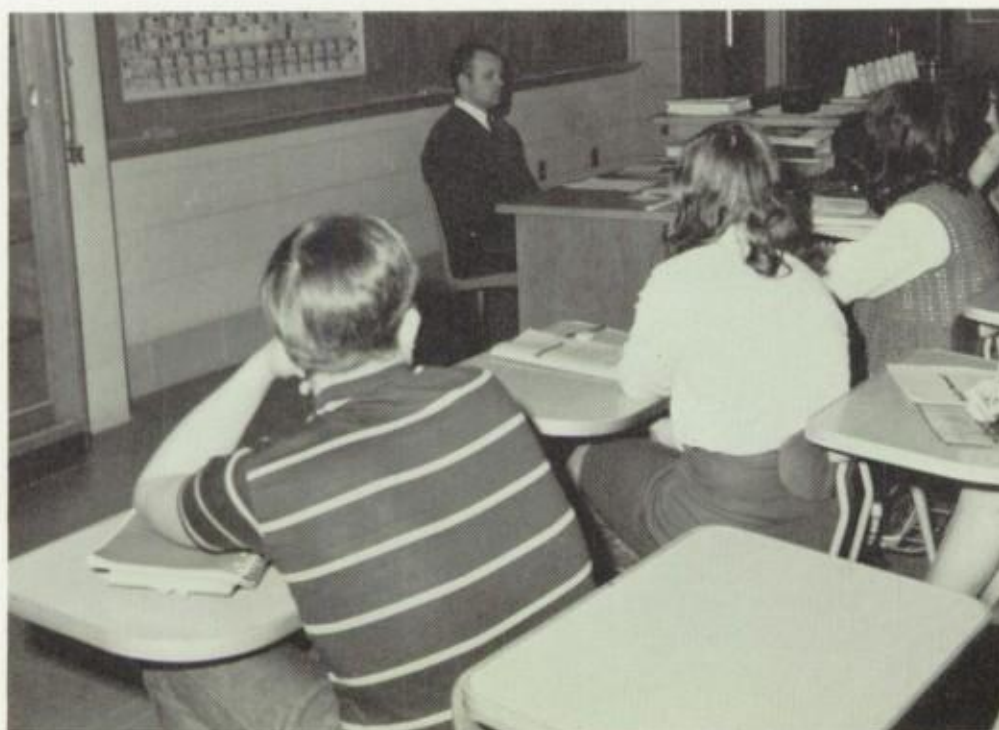

Hey, boys! Looks like you're bored in the back of the class.

In his seventh grade geography class, Mr. Hubenthal keeps the class awake.

Sophomores and seniors are taught Current Problems in the chemistry room.

Home-EC and AG: Vocational Training for the Future

Mrs. Wagner discusses the bulletin board with her home ec students.

Mrs. Moyer fits the sleeve pattern of Joanne Balciunas's dress.

Marcilee Shedrow and Laura Ringen look over a pattern with Mrs. Moyer.

This year in Home Economics the freshman, sophomores, and juniors are sewing. They are learning the new techniques in zippers and pattern sizing. The Seniors are studying advanced methods of cooking in meats, casseroles, and breads.

The Agriculture class is studying farm management, the best way to plant crops, and how to repair machinery.

The ag class looks as if it heard a funny joke.

Industrial and Graphic Arts

The Industrial Arts class looks over their finished products.

Mr. Jones helps Phil Brucker on his industrial arts work.

The industrial arts department gives students a chance to increase the usefulness of their hands and to prepare them for college in the engineering and printing fields. In graphic arts students learn how to use the printing press and how to handle the type. The architectural class and the mechanical drawing class give the student an excellent background in the construction of blueprints.

Dennis Stark is learning the tricks of fixing a car.

Keven Crawford and Jeff Hermanson work with the wood lathe.

Mr. Berg shows Tom Tiede and Mike Stump the proper placing of the graphic arts letters.

Drama and Speech Classes Help Develop Acting Talents

Mrs. Thompson's Speech Class forms a circle for easy discussion: John Weaver, Jim Frain, Bob White, Steve Galbreath, Katherine Synder, Frank Cannon, Arlene May, Gary Ward, Mrs. Thompson.

This is the cast of characters for something or other.

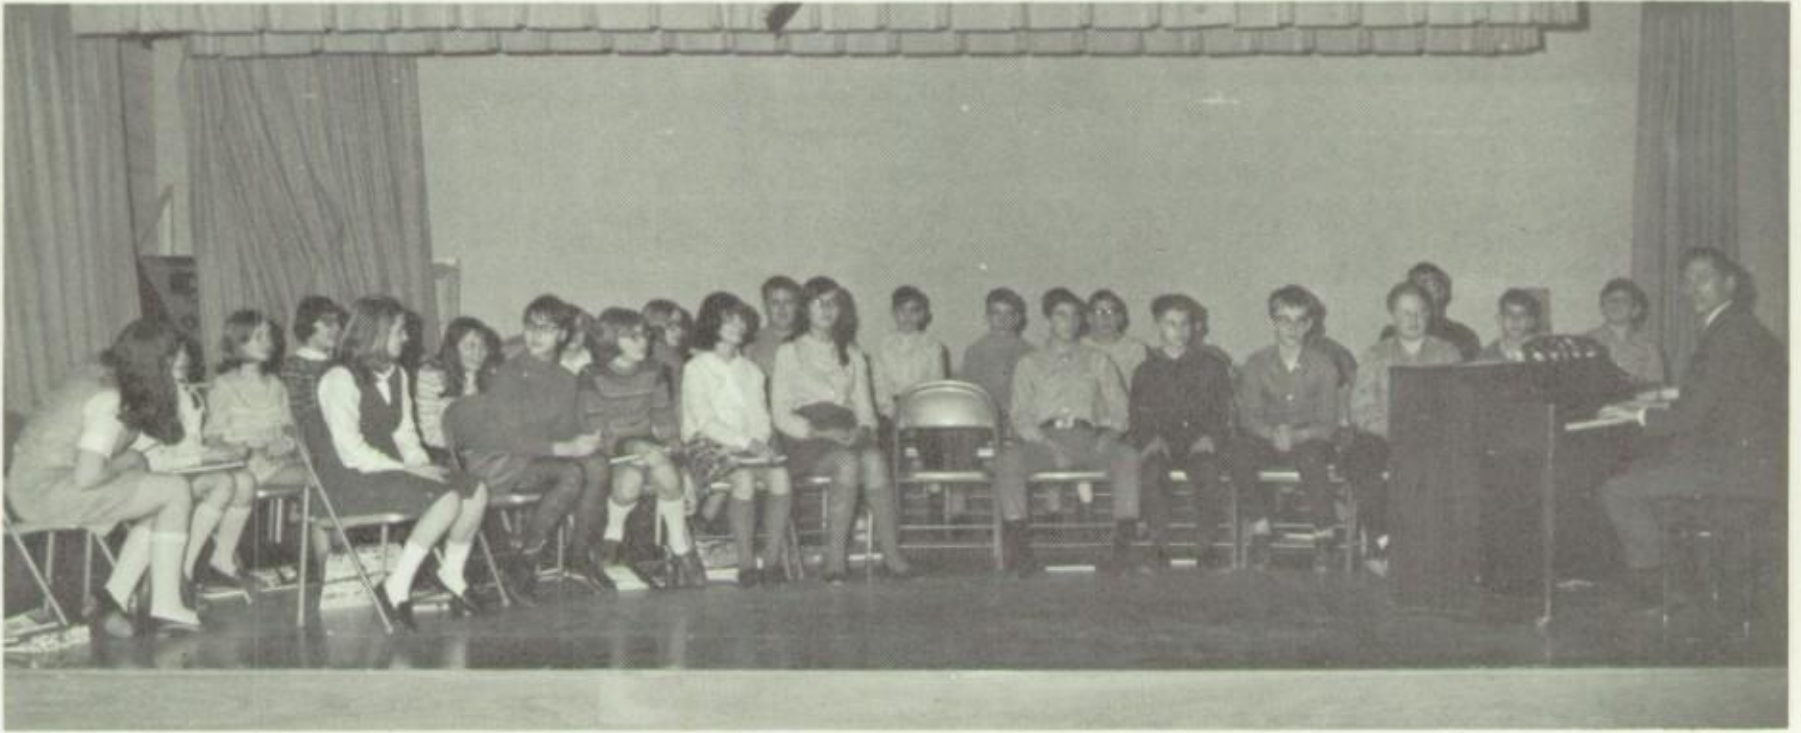

Is drama class all fun or work?

Drama students go through their daily exercise.

Art and Music Stress Student Participation

The eighth graders learn fundamental music skills under Mr. Jack Krasner.

Miss Myers instructs Darryl Boykins in her senior high art class.

Janet Willis proudly displays her newly completed project.

These energetic eighth graders are guided by Miss Myers.

Students Prepare for a Future

Mrs. Mitchell makes learning fun!

The business classes consist of Typing I and II, Business Math and Business Law, Shorthand, Bookkeeping I and II, General Business, and Office Practice. These are offered to any student either as elective or as required. Many students on the commercial course are planning to enter the business field in college.

Mrs. Stoudt takes time from her shorthand class to plan for the next day's activities.

in the Business World

Mrs. Mitchell eyes the camera while Ruth Thompson and Jane Trapp get the next assignment from the board.

Sarah Shortle awaits the signal to start in Typing I class.

Mr. Van Arsdall explains the law to Kathie Synder in Business Law class.

Linda Rife takes time out from General Business to give a look at the camera while Mag Zanger discusses a problem with Mrs. Wagner.

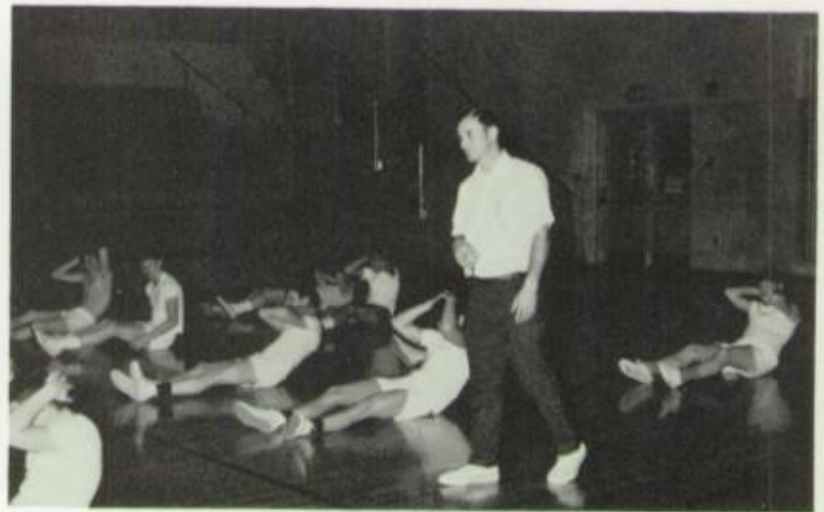

P.E. Offers Vim, Vigor, and Vitality

Mrs. Sayers has her seventh grade P. E. class doing head stands.

Mr. March keeps a watchful eye on his freshman P. E. class.

Mr. March wades through a mass of arms and legs.

The girls' P. E. class learns dancing fundamentals.

The Library Offers Learning and Enjoyment

STUDENT LIBRARIANS—STANDING: Teresa DeLorenzo, Brenda Phillips, Marsha Hedger, Laura Ringen, Marcilee Shedrow, Margie Shortle, Ruth Thompson, Pam Olds, Shelley Thompson, Judy Cloud, Pam Fisher, Kim Dommer, Sara Singleton, Theresa Fugate, Debbie Bohm, Kaye Hughes. SEATED: Lori Reames, Roberta Dexter, Sandy Lane, Peg Hoover, Molly Gordon, Mrs. Frank, Mrs. Lawson, Susan Leazenby, Debbie Becker, Lena Hudson, Margaret Funk, Cheryl McCurry.

Student librarian, Pam Olds, eyes the camera with suspicion.

A table full of seniors work hard on their assignments.

Mrs. Frank, head librarian, keeps the files in order.

Joe Liebner and Kent Kruzick slave over their advanced math.

SPORTS

POP

These Are the People

The School Board is of great importance to our school. Its members are front row: Mr. Norman Thompson, Mr. John Kwiatkowski, Mr. Tom Blinn, President. SECOND ROW: Mr. Harry Cords, Superintendent of Schools, Mr. Max Frain, Mr. Dick Werner, Mr. Chuck R. Webb, and Mr. Ralph Winters.

Our administration works hard all year round to get the functions and activities ready for next year. They are vital to our system, for without them we couldn't receive the academic standards we do.

Mr. Cords is the Superintendent of the Eastern Pulaski County School Corporation. He is in charge of the functions of all three schools.

Mrs. Nancy Shidler is the secretary to Mr. Cords.

Mrs. Marceil Kruger, treasurer of the schools, keeps the books in order.

Necessary to Run WCHS

Mr. Edward Kasamis, principal, has been at Winamac for three years. He is the chief of WCHS.

Mr. Lyle Bonnell is the assistant principal and athletic director.

Mrs. JoAnn Behny is Mr. Kasamis' executive secretary.

Mrs. Skillen, the executive treasurer, brings all the books up to date with the treasurers of activities.

Mr. Irven, the guidance counselor for all the high school students, gets ready to mail a letter for some lucky student who wants to go to college.

Mr. Lusk guides the junior high students and also teaches.

Administration, Faculty and Students Work Together

Mrs. Shorter is the teachers' aide at WCHS.

Mrs. Gudeman tests eyes and ears, and fixes the small hurts.

Miss DeWeese and Mr. Ezra won the Most-Athletic-Teacher Awards given by the students and the Intramural Council.

Courtney Poor discusses a point with his government teacher, Mr. Hendryx.

Teachers speak at a Future Teachers Association meeting.

Miss Myers is having trouble getting the message across.

Camera-shy Mrs. Wagner works on tomorrow's lesson.

Mrs. Rouch speaks to honor student Dan Dickensheets.

The Daily Life of a Teacher

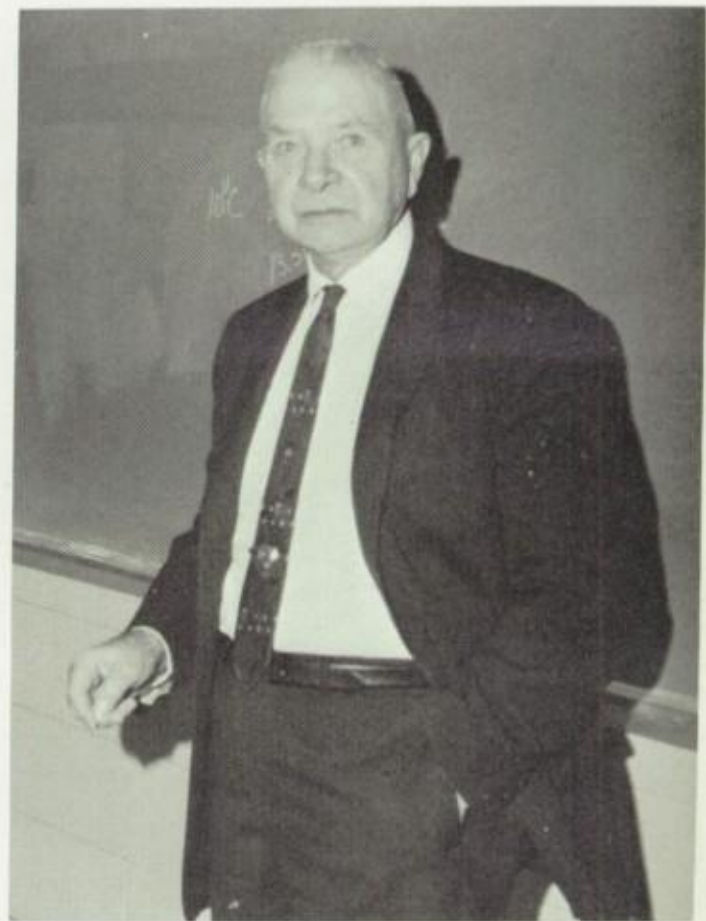

Mrs. Rouch conducts her daily class.

Mr. March is really on the ball.

Mr. Adams explains about our country.

Poor Mr. Harris got to be the guinea pig for this picture.

Mrs. Mitchell explains the "how" in Bookkeeping II.

Mr. Ezra and Miss DeWeese won the best-athlete-of-the-year awards sponsored by the Intramural Council.

Our Dedicated Teachers Prepare

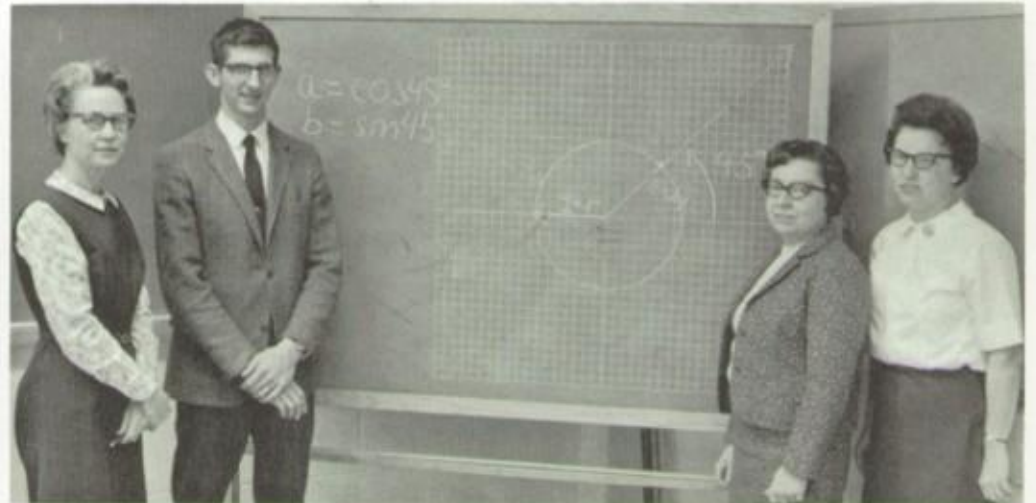

Mr. Hubenthal, Mr. Adams, Mr. March, and Mr. Hendryx of the social studies staff make sure we are well linked with the past, the present, and the future.

Bringing the depths of space, the sea, and the body into our classrooms are Mr. Ezra, Mr. Halleck, Mr. Harris, and Mr. Nale.

The assistant librarian, Mrs. Lawson, helps our librarian, Mrs. Frank, keep the library current and ready to serve our students.

WCHS's math wizards include Mrs. Dilts, Mr. Wentz, Mrs. Bishop, and Mrs. Irlen.

Mrs. Nale, Mrs. Berg, Mrs. Rouch, Miss Beck, and Mrs. Thompson make sure we know our language.

Mrs. Hughes is the A-V director, and Mrs. Drompp is her assistant. They furnish films and slides for all three schools.

the Students for the Future

The muscle-sore students learn the art of physical education under their instructors: Mr. March, Mrs. Sayers, Mr. Heath, and Mr. Hendryx.

Our business teachers are Mrs. Wagner, General business and personal typing; Mrs. Mitchell, typing II and bookkeeping I and II, Mr. Van Arsdall, commercial law and arithmetic, typing I and office practice; Mrs. Stoudt, shorthand and general business.

Mr. Alt and Miss DeWeese teach Spanish. Mrs. Nale (not pictured) teaches Latin I and II.

Our coaches are Mr. Hubenthal, eighth grade basketball; Mr. Pugh, werstling; Mr. Alt, freshman coach and tennis coach; Mr. Heath, head basketball coach; Mr. Haniford, football coach; Mr. Hendryx, seventh grade basketball and asst. football coach; Mr. Jones, cross country and track coach; Mr. March, asst. basketball coach.

Teachers Perform Their Duties at WCHS

The two most famous musicians of WCHS seem to be happy about their work. They are Mr. Krasner, vocal director, and Mr. Byfield, band director.

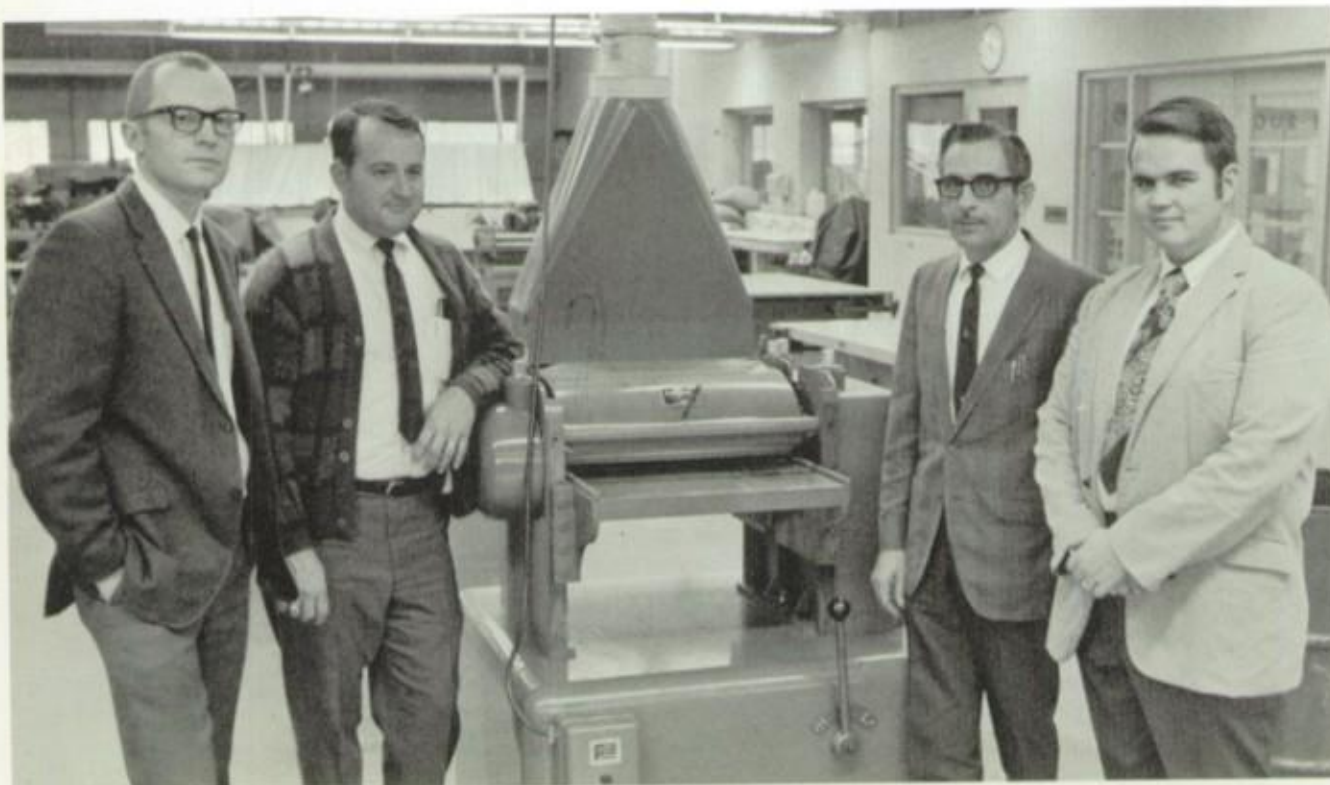

Mr. Byfield is studying his daily notes. He directs and prepares all band formations and helps prepare for the contests.

Miss Myers, art teacher for the junior and senior high, is grading a porcupine ornament for some lucky or unlucky student.

These are our own French chefs! They are Mrs. Wagner and Mrs. Moyer.

Mr. Jones, Industrial Arts; Mr. Kroft, Agriculture; Mr. Lusk, Woods and Metals; and Mr. Berg, Graphic Arts, work long, hard hours to teach the students at WCHS.

Friendly Necessities at WCHS

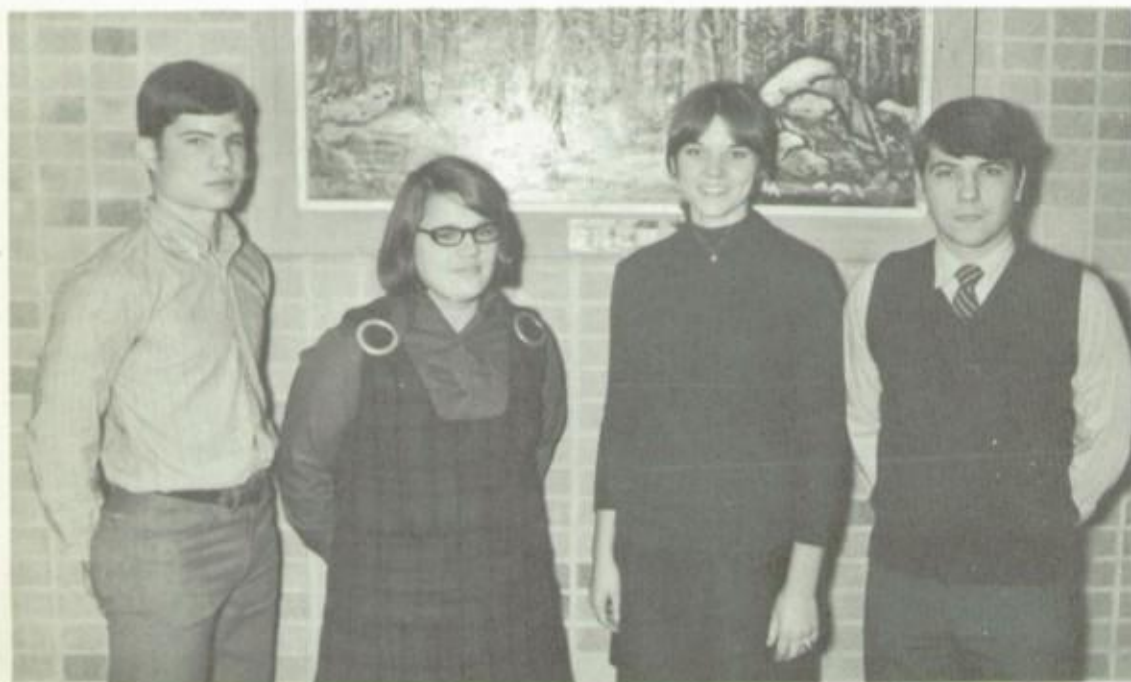

These well-known women feed us daily.
They are: Mrs. Knarr, Mrs. Tack, Mrs. Webb, and Mrs. Hickle.

Bus drivers travel the countryside carrying their precious cargo.

Mr. Bartlett and Mr. Ward keep our building operating smoothly and spotlessly clean.

We, the Totem Staff of 1969-70, wish to express our sincerest thanks to all those who have helped in any way to make this Totem possible. Especially deserving of recognition is our sponsor, Mrs. Mitchell, who has spent many hours helping and guiding us in our work. It would not be possible to list all those who have had a part, but we would like to thank all those who have made 1970 a Progress Year.

I am,
To a cool
girl, would you believe this is the first time for 3 or 4 years we haven't been locked partners? Good luck always?
